Lunch Box Surprise

by Sara Matson

"What is in your lunch box today?" Will asked Kate.

Kate looked in her lunch box. "I have a ham sandwich and carrot sticks," she said. "What is in your lunch box?"

"Tomato soup and a banana," Will said. "And something else, too."

"What is it?" Kate asked.

"I will give you a clue," Will said. "What is black and white and smells like flowers?"

"I don't know," Kate said. "What?"

"A skunk wearing perfume," Will said.

"You have a skunk in your lunch box?" Kate said.

"No," Will said. He showed Kate a piece of paper. "My mom put a joke in my lunch box."
